

Mark Nizer is passionate about science. He studied Zoology at the University of New Hampshire and San Diego State University. His research on pigmy chimpanzee's at the San Diego Zoo, opened his eye's to a world of amazing things.

ScienceSplosion™ is Mark Nizer live performance science show. Team up with future Mark from 50 years in the future, so together they can save the earth by bringing students up to speed on the science we will need to save the planet.

Mark Nizer is the winner of the International Juggling Championships Individual Gold Medal. He has spent his life combining his passion for juggling and doing impossible feats with his technical and building expertise to create a science show that not only educates but entertains thru rich story telling, live demonstrations and immersive content.

This is a brand new science show that will teach some fundamentals of how science works, why science is amazing and what we can do to use science to understand and improve our world.

ScienceSplosion™ show will take students on a journey thru time and space to help figure these things out.

Using multimedia, juggling, lasers and more. Mark Nizer will give you real tools and teach you how science works, how to determine what is true and what is not.

So get ready to join Mark Nizer and Mark Nizer 50 years in the future as they work together to teach the critical skills we will need to save our future.

It's a fun and original way to teach and learn about what is possible and what is real.

Mark has performed at 1000's of venues around the world and brings his passion for science education together with his love of performing into a unique curriculum based learning experience that will both educate and entertain.
